Toronto, ON (May 2009) – ADFLOW Networks received top honours at this year's Burlington Chamber of Commerce Annual Business Awards Gala. This annual business event, the Chamber's largest, brings together business, government and industry leaders from all over the area to join in celebrating the Chamber's and the business community's achievements. The Chamber presented business excellence awards in seven leading categories.

ADFLOW Networks was recognized for their contribution towards innovative technologies and successful business practices, receiving the award for 'New Product/New Service' in front of four hundred attendees at the Burlington Convention Centre.

"ADFLOW is extremely pleased to be recognized with this esteemed award. Not only to be acknowledged for the advancements we've made in the technology sector, but the recognition by our peers and colleagues as a leading business within our own community is truly an honour," says David Roscoe, CEO, ADFLOW Networks. "We could not have won this award without the hard work and dedication of the entire ADFLOW Networks team."

To be eligible for a Business Excellence Award, a company must be a member of the Burlington Chamber of Commerce or be located in the City of Burlington. Finalists and winners are chosen by the Chamber's Business Awards Task Force, a group of Chamber volunteers. The Task Force uses a rigorous selection process that includes a series of questionnaires and interviews. Winners are companies that have demonstrated excellence in business leadership, community contributions, entrepreneurship, employee welfare, innovation and growth. For the first time in five years, the Chamber is presenting awards in all six categories.
